PROFILE

Partnership-led growth operator in Latin American consumer fintech. Built and ran the market-entry plan that took Crypto.com's LATAM business from zero to 6M+ users and the #1 app position in the region, acquiring users through performance-based partner channels rather than paid media alone — sourcing partners, negotiating variable commercial terms, driving them live fast, and cutting the ones that didn't produce. Established network across the Brazilian creator, KOL and fintech ecosystem, and comfortable structuring partner deals inside Brazil's LGPD, CONAR and tax requirements. Hands-on, quota-minded, and used to owning a number end to end.

SELECTED OUTCOMES

- 0 → 6,000,000+ users and #1 app in Latin America — Crypto.com regional launch, built substantially on partner and creator acquisition channels
- 0 → 130,000 — built Sui Foundation's regional channel from a standing start
- Built partner acquisition channels from zero in a market with no existing programme — sourcing, contracting, activation and ongoing management
- Negotiated and closed variable, performance-based partner agreements and ran the payment operation behind them
- Killed underperforming channels and reallocated spend on channel-level data rather than on relationships
- [Deals closed: __ partners signed in __ months] · [Volume: __ activated users / __ % of new signups]

EXPERIENCE

Sui Foundation — [job title]

[city] · [start] – [end]

- Grew the regional channel from 0 to 130,000 from a standing start
- Sourced and closed ecosystem and creator partnerships across the region, then drove them to launch
- Owned the ongoing partner relationship — activation, troubleshooting, engagement and performance review

Crypto.com — [job title]

[city] · [start] – [end]

- Owned Latin America growth end to end, scaling from zero to 6M+ users and the #1 app position
- Built the partner and creator acquisition channel from nothing — prospecting, pitching, negotiating and closing deals with content creators, communities and affiliate operators
- Structured performance-based compensation — CPA, revenue share and hybrid models — and ran the partner payment process alongside finance
- Drove newly signed partners to publish and produce activated users quickly, treating time-to-first-activation as the metric that mattered
- Monitored results partner by partner and channel by channel, discontinuing what underperformed and concentrating budget behind what worked
- Worked with legal and finance on partner contracting, disclosure obligations and cross-border payment operations
